GUNMAN ROBS CASHIER IN SUMMER ST. STORE

Life Threatened—Since she became involved, as a witness, in the mysterious death of Mrs. Helen D. Dale a year ago, Mrs. Elsie Belcher (above), Allston widow and mother, has received numerous threats against her life.

Threat Sent Witness in Dale Killing

Threats against her life and against her family have been made to the key witness in the mystery death of Mrs. Helen D. Dale, the witness told the Boston Evening American today while waiting to go before the grand jury.

She is Mrs. Elsie Belcher, 40-year-old Allston widow and mother who lived in the Commonwealth avenue, Kenmore square, apartment under that in which Mrs. Dale was fatally shot a year ago.

The apartment where the shooting occurred was occupied by George T. Knox, former state policeman.

Following Mrs. Dale's death, police sought a complaint against Knox in Roxbury court, but it was refused because of the deathbed statement by Mrs. Dale, daughter of a retired fire captain, that the shot came from the fire escape while Knox was asleep.

The case has been reopened.

Wage-Hour Appeal by Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—President Roosevelt expressed the hope today that the House could vote on wage-hour legislation at this session despite refusal of the rules committee to give it priority.

Chairman Norton (D.), New Jersey, of the House labor committee made public a letter which Mr. Roosevelt sent her Saturday from Charleston, S. C., suggesting the bill might reach the floor either by a petition or by reconsideration of the rules committee's action.

Emphasizing the committee was within its rights and that he had

Flees in Shopping Crowds

With the store crowded and in the midst of heavy downtown afternoon traffic outside, a lone gunman today held by Schrafft's restaurant in Summer street, near Washington, and escaped with $400.

There were about 200 customers in the store, most of whom were unaware of what was occurring until the alarm was sounded as the bandit fled.

The daring robber was dressed in a chauffeur's khaki uniform. Brandishing a pistol, held low to escape notice, he stood close to the cashier's window and handed Ruth Cronin, 21, of Huron avenue, Medford, the cashier, a note which read:

"Give me all your paper money in the till. Don't make any noise!"

WARNED TO HURRY

He cooly scooped up the receipts, snatched the note back and stolled out. In a few minutes he was lost from sight among the crowd of shoppers in the heart of the city's congested business district.

A man and woman standing in the store, near the entrance, were suspected by police to be accomplices. They strolled into the crowd at the heels of the bandit.

At police headquarters, where Miss Cronin was taken to view the rogue's gallery, she declared:

"It was at the height of the rush hour. I was maknig change at the time. After reading the note, with the gun pointed at me, I gave him what money I had.

"I was so shocked I read the note three times. He kept saying 'hurry up'."

2 Saved, 30 Routed In East Boston Fire

Two persons were rescued and 30 others were driven to the street today in East Boston during a two-alarm fire that damaged a junk shop and five three-family houses.

Little Mary Cammaroda, 13, ill for more than a week, was carried from her smoke-filled room on the third floor at 308 Putnam street by Patrolman Paul Sances.

From the first floor at 179 Putnam street, Mrs. Eleanor White, an invalid, was carried to the street by firemen as thick smoke rolled through the structure and flames ate away at the rear.

The fire started in a children's playhouse at the rear of 177 Putnam street and spread rapidly to the rear of 179 Putnam and 310, 312 and 314 Chelsea street, and to the junk shop in Putnam street. Damage was $10,000.

Nazis Abuse U. S. Citizens

LONDON, May 2 (INS)—Continued ill-treatment of Jews in Vienna was reported today by the London Evening Standard.

It said Nazi storm troopers in Vienna seized several hundred Jews today, including five Americans and two British subjects.

The Jews, it said, were forced for several hours to perform gymnastic exercises.

2 Killers Lose Last Life Plea

Oscar V. Bartolini and Edward P. Simpson, convicted slayers, both must die in the electric chair at State Prison, it was ruled today by the United States Supreme Court.

The last possible avenue of escape for either was closed through the decisions denying requests for writs of review.

Bartolini has been in the Cherry Hill section at State Prison since arrival. He was convicted of slaying Mrs. Grayce M. Asquith, Weymouth "merry widow," on September 20, 1936.

Simpson, slayer of two Newton policemen, is also in the Cherry Hill section, having been taken out of the deathhouse when a respite was granted him.

Stocks Again Sag Slowly

NEW YORK, May 2 (AP)—Stocks shifted to the rear in today's market but at a pace that hardly kept the ticker tape warm.

Losses running to $2 or more in the morning were reduced near the final hour.

THE WEATHER

Generally fair tonight and Tuesday; lowest temperature near 50. Slightly cooler late Tuesday evening. (Report on Page 2.)

Italy Masses Troops To Guard Hitler's Life

ROME, May 2 (AP)—Troop trains rolled into Rome upon hour today bringing 10,000 soldiers to be on hand for the visit of Germany's Reichsfuehrer Hitler.

Everywhere was turmoil of last-minute preparation for the greatest pageant in the ancient city's history.

Parks were converted into military camps. Merchants refused deliveries because their trucks could not move through downtown streets choked by soldiers, detectives and tourists.

Persons of questionable record were jailed or ordered from Rome, Florence and Naples during Hitler's six-day stay. Unofficial estimates fixed the number involved at 6000 to 7000.

AUTOS CHECKED

Soldiers stopped automobiles entering or leaving Rome and checked identification papers. Police doubled their regular guard along the railway from Brenner Pass to Rome, route of the Hitler train.

Ege's predominantly German population is prepared to turn out at dawn tomorrow when the Fuehrer's train rolls from Austrian Germany onto Italian soil.

Italy received this Tyrol region from Austria as part of World War spoils. Otherwise it would have become German when Hitler annexed the rest of Austria.

SHOW FRIENDSHIP

There will begin tomorrow the main conferences designed to show that Rome and Berlin still are good friends, despite the annexation and the new Italian accord with Great Britain.

There will, however, be an atmosphere somewhat different from that prevailing when Hitler received Mussolini in Munich last September 25.

Italians, some of them in official circles, have expressed resentment that Nazification of Austria brought German troops to Brenner pass, Italy's historic mountain gateway on the north.

A few demonstrations of sentiment have occurred in theaters showing newsreels of the event, also by university students.

Hitler, Aides Leave Berlin for Rome

BERLIN, May 2 (AP)—Reichsfuehrer Hitler and his numerous retinue of Germany's leaders left today for his state visit to Italy. His special train pulled out for Rome at 4:45 p. m., 11:45 a. m., E. D. T.

Berlin's population gave the Fuehrer a tremendous send-off. Thousands jammed the Anhalter railway station, which was decked with bunting and greenery.

The city's Italian colony appeared in full force as the ruler of Germany departed to make with Premier Mussolini an inventory of their common alignment confronting Europe's changing political conditions.

Speaking in the name of the German people, Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering said goodbye to his chief, declaring the hearts of all Germans were with him on this momentous journey. Goering, No. 2 Nazi, is remaining in Berlin as acting head of the government.

LENI RIEFENSTAHL

Honor Hitler 'Girl Friend'

BERLIN, May 2 (INS)—Rumors of Hitler's romance with Leni Riefenstahl were revived today with announcement the beautiful red-haired actress had received the Reich prize for "the best motion picture achievement of 1937."

At the same time there was speculation as to whether the award, obviously made on Hitler's order, was not intended also as a rebuff to Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels and perhaps marks the beginning of the downfall of the third most powerful member of the Nazi government.

Goebbels, it was reported from Paris, publicly denounced the beauteous Lent as a Jewess in the home of Wilhelm Frick, minister of the interior, when Fraulein Riefenstahl was present.

Roosevelt Drops Line

CHARLESTON, S. C., May 2 (INS)—Just north of the Dominican Republic, President Roosevelt went fishing today on the west side of Silver Bank."

The cruiser Philadelphia dropped anchor in those tropical seas early this morning after making a run of approximately 900 miles from the Charleston Navy Yard at better than 20 knots.

Mr. Roosevelt, as commander-in-chief, was mixing business with pleasure, according to word radioed back by Secretary Marvin H. McIntyre, in that the trim new cruiser bearing the presidential fishing party was making a series of fuel tests upon which selection of next year's naval supply will largely depend.

German, Russ 'Royalty' Wed

POTSDAM, Germany, May 2 (AP)—Prince Louis Ferdinand of the house of Hohenzollern and the Grand Duchess Kira of the house of Romanoff were married in civil ceremony in Cecilienhof Castle this morning.

The Crown Prince Wilhelm of Prussia, the bridegroom's father, and the Grand Duke Cyril, father of the bride and pretender to the lost throne of old Russia, were the only witnesses.

Meanwhile, guests assembled in the hall of the castle for the Greek Orthodox service. There were 61 men and women of royal blood.

Each received a 12-page program, telling exactly what to do, where to sit and when to kneel.

The bridal couple plan to visit America on their honeymoon. The Prince once worked as a mechanic in a Ford plant in Detroit.

Roosevelt in Plea to House

no right to criticize House rules, the President said he had "a profound respect for and devotion to the democratic legislative process."

"The continuing fairness of that legislative process is the foundation of enduring democracy," he said.

OF VITAL IMPORTANCE

"There are, however, certain types of measures in each session which are of undoubted national importance because they relate to major policies of government and affect the lives of millions of people.

"It has always seemed to me that in the case of these measures—few in any one session—the whole membership of the legislative body should be given full and free opportunity to discuss them. This discussion may end in drastic amendment, or in recommittal, or even in complete rejection.

"In the case of wage and hour legislation, the majority party . . . is committed to legislation by its national platform—and I have no personal doubt that a large majority of the membership of the House believes that the House as a whole should pass its judgment on such legislation."

DRAFTS PETITION

Mrs. Norton said she would draft a petition this week. If it is signed by 218 members—a majority of the House—automatic consideration of the wage-hour bill would result.

An impending adjournment rush, however, may block her plans. Many members said privately the fact that the petition could not become effective before May 23 at the earliest meant the House would not reach the controversial legislation.

They agreed, too, that there was little chance of achieving a vote by the alternative mentioned by Mr. Roosevelt—reconsideration by the rules committee.

Highlights in Roosevelt Plea

WASHINGTON, May 2—Highlights in President Roosevelt's appeal to Mrs. Norton, chairman of the House Labor Committee, to save the wage-hour bill.

You have the situation, however, where a bill was held up by a majority vote of a small committee, was then reported by the petition system, was debated and recommitted to the labor committee for further consideration.

A new bill has been reported by the labor committee. I do not pass judgment on its merits or demerits. The fact remains that the subject should once more be properly before the House.

I still hope that the House as a whole can vote on a wage and hour bill—either by reconsideration of this action by the rules committee itself or by the petition route.

$5 State Exam Courses Blasted

Gave Wrong Information, Is Charge

Thousands of complaints, hurled principally at state extension courses that cost $5 each, were received at the State House today in the wake of Saturday's civil service examinations for jobs on the State Unemployment Compensation Commission.

Some of the irate applicants who took all the examinations charged they had deliberately been given misinformation by instructors in the courses held throughout the state under supervision of the State Department of Education.

Other claimed that the instructors, who were appointed without benefit of civil service, were unable to furnish them with proper answers raised during the course for which they paid $5.

PREPARED FOR EXAMS

The courses were especially established by the university extention of the Department of Education to prepare some 26,000 applicants who took examinations for the job of examiner of claims. The position pays $1560 a year.

Most of the complaints were received by telephone at the civil service university extension departments. Many senators and representatives revealed that they had received similar protests from constituents who took the examinations.

Chief Examiner James O'Neil of then civil service department, admitting thousands of complaints had been lodged, declared it would take "days and probably a week" before the matter could be properly investigated.

When told of the many complaints made against the extension courses, O'Neil said:

RAPS INSTRUCTORS

"Well, I wouldn't doubt it. In my opinion, some of the instructors couldn't even pass an examination for a clerk themselves."

O'Neil also expressed the opinion that some of the complaints were "just about the average number from people who would complain anyway when they left after the examination that they were unable to answer questions correctly."

Drennan Girl Mother of Boy

MARGARET DRENNAN

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., May 2 (AP) — Margaret Drennan, 20-year-old Iselin girl acquitted six months ago of murder, gave birth today to a 10-pound boy, reputed son of the man she shot to death.

Miss Drennan was acquitted of slaying Paul Reeves, youthful father of two children, in his Iselin bungalow.

She told the jury Reeves had attacked her prior to her visit to his home and that she went there to tell him she was an expectant mother. She shot him, she said, because he attacked her a second time.

$150,000 Poker Loser Boston Girl's Hubby

Lew Brice

Now Faces Suit For Divorce

Henry Talbot deVere Clifton —the "Harry T. Clifton" who dropped $150,000 on one hand in a Long Beach, Cal., poker game—is just as unlucky at love, was revealed today with the announcement that his Boston socialite wife, the former Lillian Lowell, will seek to divorce him.

Mrs. Clifton, whose first husband was Merrill Griswold, Boston banker, gave up $750 a month alimony to marry Clifton, "one of the wealthiest m[illegible] in Great Britain," in October 1937.

Last year after nine years of marriage, the society belle, now 29, and Griswold parted. She had one daughter by that marriage.

Within a few months, she met Clifton in England, they became engaged, and then she returned to America—alone. Clifton took the next boat, talked to her over the long-distance phone, flew from New York to Boston, and married her in the chapel of the Boston University school of theology.

The honeymoon, however, was passed in separate suites in the Hotel St. Regis.

Clifton and other members of the famous stud poker game that saw $340,000 in the pot at one time will appear in court Friday in connection with writs obtained by Clifton's attorney to stop payment of his $150,000 check.

In the game besides Clifton were said to be Lew Brice, song-and-dance brother of Fannie Brice; Tommy Guinan, brother of the late "Texas" Guinan, Jack Reynolds and George Lewis, the host.

MATE MAY LOSE HER TOO—Mrs. Henry Talbot de Vere Clifton, whose husband is seeking to recover $150,000 from Lew Brice, brother of Comedienne Fannie Brice, as result of card game, plans to divorce him, it was announced today. She was the former Lillian Lowell Griswold, Boston socialite.

Among the authors whose works were destroyed were Stephan Zweig, Maximilian Harden, the sharp-tongued critic of the old German Empire; Schnitzler, Auerbach and Heinrich Heine, the great German Jewish poet.

Wellesley Hoop Victor Lacks Man

It is a tradition of Wellesley that the girl who wins the event will be the first member of the senior class to be married.

But the colonel's daughter, excited and smiling, exclaimed after the race:

"I haven't a man in mind!"

As her classmates laughed, she jokingly added:

"But all who come are welcome!"

Miss Ganoe is the daughter of Colonel and Mrs. William A. Ganoe. Up until about two years ago Colonel Ganoe was stationed at Boston University where he was head of the R. O. T. C. The Wellesley girl is prominent in basketball a.d hockey activities.

There were about 400 Wellesley seniors in the hoop race many of them arriving at the starting line—on top of Tower Court hill—at dawn to get strategic places. Those who arrived early brought picnic lunches of fruit and sandwiches.

The girls were traditionally dressed in cap and gown over white dresses.

Elizabeth Wheeler of Concord was second, Jeanette Wallace of Newton Center was third.

Britain, Italy Agreed on Palestine

LONDON, May 2 (AP)—An oral agreement between Britain and Italy over the delicate issue of Palestine was disclosed by Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain in the House of Commons today as he faced an opposition onslaught on the Anglo-Italian pact signed at Rome April 16.

The two powers had exchanged assurances that interests of the other in Palestine would e respected, Chamberlain announced.

Vigorously defending his policy of realistic dealing with Europe's dictators, the prime minister said the Rome agreement was the first great step toward a "sane" stalne in Europe."

Chamberlain closed his 43-minute speech by "repudiating" the idea that "it is impossible for democracy to come to terms and understanding with states of autoritarian ideas."

Earlier he declared that when he became prime minister eleven months ago, Britain and Italy were drifting rapidly toward war.

Chamberlain cited President Roosevelt's approval of the Anglo-Italian accord.

"The President of the United States signified his sympathetic interest because he considers this affords proof of the value of peaceful negotiations," the prime minister said.

3 Battles Rage On Spain Fronts

HENDAYE, French-Spanish Frontier, May 2 (INS)—Three immense battles, with their outcomes in doubt, today raged along the northeastern Spanish fronts, while the government suddenly opened a surprise offensive far to the south, in Cordoba province.

The latter drive was aimed to draw attention away from the Catalonian fronts, but insurgent advices said the government attack was "completely defeated."

A Barcelona communique admitted several insurgent advances south of Alloza, on the Teruel front, but it insisted the position were recaptured by the government.

The insurgents started violent struggles on the outskirts of Colledo Alto, Vertices and San Anton.

Anti-Nazi Germans tried with promises to support the Czechs in defense of the nation to offset the demonstrations, which have increased in intensity since the German annexation of Austria.

Industry Reveals Its 'Recovery Program'

NEW YORK, May 2 (INS)—"Pump-priming to stimulate business cannot succeed unless it is accompanied by governmental policies that will permit business to accept the priming and go forward," the board of directors of the National Association of Manufacturers said today in a formal statement.

The statement, issued following an all-day meeting here on Friday attended by 47 representatives of various industries, included the following seven-point "recovery program":

1—Constructive steps by government to create confidence in the fundamentals of the private enterprise system.

2—Declaration by the federal government that it will not proceed in competition with private utilities and will refrain from practices which retard public utility expansion by discouraging investment and purchases.

WAGNER ACT REVISION

3—Revision of the Wagner Act to make it a workable instrument for curtailing labor disputes. This involves correcting its one-sided character, enforcing responsibility on labor organizations, and establishing impartial administration by the National Labor Relations Board.

4—Prompt solution of the underlying railroad problem.

5—Adequate definition of specific purpose in the appropriating of further national funds for relief purposes.

6—Avoidance of new federal reform legislation that will result in a fresh period of uncertainty at a time when the nation should be concentrating upon making jobs.

BILLIONS READY

William B. Warner, president of the McCall Corporation and chairman of the board of the N. A. M., presided at the session.

The board's statement declares in part:

"Pouring public funds into pump-priming projects, no matter how freely, cannot provide permanent jobs and economic stability if private enterprise is not encouraged simultaneously to proceed and expand. On the other hand, if all possible encouragement is given to private enterprise, then little, if any, pump-priming will be necessary.

A. F. L. Head Backs Plan To Lend, Spend

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, told a House appropriation committee today that a federal spending-lending program is "necessary" because unemployment had increased from 7,500,000 last September to 11,000,000.

Green told reporters he had "referred to the seriousness of the existing economic system" and had "recommended Congress approve recommendations of the President."

While Green was endorsing the President's program, Senator Glass (D.) of Virginia, said on the other side of the Capitol that he opposed it because: "I am not in favor of making a pawn shop out of the Treasury."

Green said he had endorsed both the proposed $1,250,000,000 appropriation for relief and a projected billion-dollar public works program.

Strike of 1500 Dyers Shuts Down 8 R. I. Mills

WOONSOCKET, R. I., May 2—More than 1500 dyers, employed in eight textile mills, went on strike today protesting a 12½ per cent wage cut.

Because dyers are essential in all textile divisions, it was estimated 350 operatives would be affected.

As a result of the strike, Woonsocket mills shut down completely and others are expected to be closed tonight. The strikers are affiliated with the Woonsocket Independent Textile Union.

In Providence and other parts of the state, 30,000 more workers definitely awaited announcement of the wage slash, ready to stream out of the mills at any moment.

Joseph Sylvia, chairman of the CIO woolen and worsteds division of the Textile Workers, declared he hoped to persuade mill owners cut would not solve their problems.

Joseph Schmetz, Woonsocket union spokesman, said he would contact mill managers tonight seeking to rescind the cut.

Father and 2 Of 9 Children Held in Thefts

A father and two of his nine children were held in bail totalling $20,000 in South Boston district court today in connection with an alleged shoplifter ring in Greater Boston.

Police, after watching a South Boston apartment for three weeks, raided the place early yesterday and arrested the trio after seizing $20,000 worth of clothing, cosmetics and other articles.

Sixteen-year-old Mary O'Meara of East Second street pleaded not guilty to larceny and was held in $10,000 after Judge Edward L. Logan ordered her sent to the Psycopathic hospital.

Her father, Christopher O'Meara, 49, and a brother, Vincent, 19, pleaded not guilty to receiving stolen property and were held in $5000 each. Their cases were continued two weeks pending examination of the girl.

Police said articles seized in the O'Meara flat had been accumulating for two years.

In the police lineup the girl was alleged to have cleared her father and brother, stating they had "no knowledge" of what was going on.

The father was quoted by police as declaring he had "no idea" how $20,000 worth of merchandise got into his home. He said, according to police, he thought it "had been bought in the country."

Vincent said he, too, had no idea how the merchandise had got into his bedroom.

R. I. Woman Red Attacks 3 Nuns

PROVIDENCE, May 2—An attack upon three Catholic nuns by an alleged woman Communist, almost in the shadow of SS. Peter and Paul Cathedral, was under investigation by city and state police today.

Mayor James E. Dunne took personal charge of the probe in Providence, and he was joined by Governor Robert E. Quinn, who made facilities of the state police available.

A complete "purge" of Communism in the city and the state was their objective.

"Get that woman at any cost!" was the order issued to the police by Mayor Dunne.

The woman assailant tore the veil from one nun and caused the other nuns to seek refuge in an automobile nearby.

To the Boston Evening American today the nuns, of the Notre Dame order, were identified as Sisters St. John, St. Frances and St. Catherine.

It was Sister St. John from whom the veil was torn.

The abuse of the nuns was first made public by Bishop Francis P. Keough and later confirmed by Sister Ignatius, head of the local order of the Congregation of Notre Dame.

Three detectives, are investigating the incident and to check on all women in this section known to have subversive tendencies.

Bishop Keough made the abuse of the nuns known during an address to the convention of the Rhode Island Union of Holy Name Societies in Cathedral Hall.

He told of the incident, the Bishop said, "to show the widespread ramifications of a boring in program of the Communists," whom he blamed for the flood of obscene literature in Rhode Island.

On the heels of a protest by the Rev. Francis J. Deery, editor of the Catholic Visitor, Providence police later announced that a national magazine had been banned for its alleged attack on a Roman Catholic martyr.

Bishop Keough said the attack on the three nuns occurred Saturday morning by a woman about 35 years old, dark-haired and apparently of foreign extraction.

As the nuns approached the woman, the bishop said, she suddenly seized Sister St. John by the arm, swung her abruptly around and yanked the trailing veil from the back of her white cap.

Then the woman's clawing hands seized the cap and tore that off, too.

As she did this, she screamed her allegiance to the Communist Party, according to the reports made police, and cursed the church and its activities against Communists.

The other two nuns, terrified by the suddenness of the attack, fled toward an automobile.

2 Wives Hear Him Admit Polygamy

Two wives heard John Thomas Kershaw, 43, of Cedar street, Haverhill, admit a charge of polygamy in Somerville district court today. A six-month sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation until October 4.

Police allege Kershaw went through a marriage ceremony in Somerville on February 11, 1938, with Esther A. Sweet of Haverhill, and that he had already married on June 13, 1929, in Derry, N. H., Annie Edna Gray, also of Haverhill.

William Randolph Hearst Honored on His Birthday

Colonial Party At Santa Monica

By LYNN SPENCER
Special to the Boston Evening American

SANTA MONICA, Cal., May 2—Miss Marion Davies' beautiful Colonial beach home at Santa Monica served as the setting for a brilliant costume ball Saturday night that feted William Randolph Hearst on his birthday anniversary.

The early American motif was carried out in minutest detail both in decorations and costumes. More than 300 guests, many of them from distant points, dined and danced.

Red, white and blue were in evidence everywhere. Hundreds of American flags and spreading golden eagles adorned the walls inside and out.

At the stroke of midnight, a huge birthday cake—an exact replica of Independence Hall in Philadelphia—was wheeled into the supper room. While the orchestra played "Happy Birthday to You," Mr. Hearst, flanked by three of his sons, George, William R., Jr., and Randolph, cut the cake.

STATELY DANCES

The charming hostess wore the costume that made her famous in one of her great films, "Little Old New York." She was stunning in a outfit of striped trousers, silk frilled shirt, Eton jacket and velvet Dutch tam.

Mr. Hearst made an imposing appearance in the costume of President James Madison. The trousers were light gray, and he wore a long-tailed Southern style coat, frilled shirt and high gray hat.

DEMURE PRECILLA

Mrs. William R. Hearst, Jr., of New York, wore a high hooped skirt of sea green taffeta, a cerulean blue, tight-fitting jacket with jabot, mounted with a gorgeous star sapphire and diamond clip.

Mrs. Randolph Hearst of Atlanta was demure and appealing as Priscilla in a gray Puritan dress with full skirt, the organdie fushia trimmed in lace.

Mrs. George Hearst was striking as the "Girl of the Golden West," in a handsome leather costume, green silk waist, with large hat and bright colored bandana.

Miss Norma Shearer as Marie Antoinette wore an enormous hoop skirt of white mousseline de soie with French blue Louis Quinze bowknots of ribbons and at intervals bunches of pink silk roses, tight fitting waist in white satin and high French headdress with garlande of pink roses.

BELLE OF SOUTH

Miss Rose Davies was chic in a pearl gray costume of the Napoleonic era, with black and white taffeta vest and military silver buttons.

George Hearst wore an early American gentleman's outfit of brown and tan. Matt Moore was an Indian, Freeman Gosden, Marvyn Leroy, Randolph Scott and Charles Lederer were troppers. J. F. T. O'Connor represented Senator Stephen A. Douglas. Fred Stone was a constable and Darryl Zanuck a French aide de camp. Mrs. William Curley was a Southern belle in flowing white taffeta, and Mr. Curley was a Cpretbagger.

Mrs. Harry Martin (Louella Parsons) wore a Lillian Russell costume of black velvet, and Mrs. George Burns (Gracie Allen) was a Colonial dame.

BIG MOMENT OF THE PARTY—William Randolph Hearst, newspaper editor-publisher, cutting huge cake, replica of Independence Hall, at birthday festivities held in his honor at Santa Monica, Cal. Mr. Hearst was feted by a host of friends at colorful Colonial party. He received congratulatory messages from all over country, many from men and women in high places in the nation.

Nurse, Man Deny Baby Death Charge

LOWELL, May 2—Pleas of innocence were made in district court here today by an unmarried 26-year-old Boston nurse and a Boston utility inspector to charges involving the alleged slaying of an infant.

Margaret Claffie, former Worcester State and Boston City Hospital nurse, and Harry Markus, 54, of Forsythe street, Roxbury, were held without bail for continuance until May 12.

Miss Claffie was charged with murder after the body of a newborn infant was dug up in the cellar of a North Billerica home. Markus, who denied all knowledge of the case, was charged with being an accessory before and after the fact to murder.

DRAMATIC MEETING

The girl and the man she says was her sweetheart were taken to court together after a dramatic meeting at Lowell police headquarters. There, the pretty nurse pointed to Markus, branded him as the father of her child and declared he was with her when the tiny bodywas buried in the cellar of her mother's home.

Markus, limping on crutches froma recent legf racture, denied it all. He said he had known the girl when she was a Boston City Hospital nurse, had kept company with her but all other of the girl's charge heshe clared to be untrue.

Whisked from Roxbury to Lowell to face the girl, Markus declared it was the first time he had seen herfor several years.

TELLS OF MEETING

"I was walking up Massachusetts avenue one day several years ago when this man drove by and stopped," she told police and attaches of the district attorney's office. "That's how we met."

Markus said: "That's true."

This Markus also admitted, police said.

But when the girl said she had stayed at his Queensboro street apartment and had seen him steadily for a year, Markus denied it, police said.

"When I told him about by trouble, he told me I was a nurse and knew hat to do about it," she said. This he also denied.

Hurley Refuses Kelly Request

Governor Hurley today refused the request of Lieutenant Governor Kelly, that Mrs. Sarah Williams of Jamaica Plain be asked to attend a hearing next Friday at which charges of incompetency will be lodged against her husband, Dr. David L. Williams, state commissioner of mental diseases.

The hearing, the governor said, will be held similarly to that given Howard H. Murphy, when he was ousted as commissioner of agriculture, except that members of the governor's council will be present.

Counsel for Murphy contended that failure of the governor to have the councillors present invalidated the removal order. The case is now before the Supreme court.

The dead were Donald E. Dutt, 43, owner and pilot, and William V. Hillman, 23, passenger and student pilot. The crash, according to witnesses, occurred when Butt's plane was "cut off" by another plane as he was attempting to land at the airport.

"I am not used [illegible] thing," she said. "Have I still you like to get a letter [illegible] back?' That's what I am afraid of, really. How was I [illegible] to be a witness in such a case?

"I am merely a witness. I was here because I was summoned here. I was unfortunate enough to occupy an apartment in the house where this unfortunate happening occurred.

NEVER SAW MAN

"I am only a witness, that's all. Why does everybody center attention on me? There were hundreds of residents in that apartment house and there are a number of other witnesses in this case.

"I never saw the man in my life, the man I heard in that apartment. I cannot discuss with you what my testimony will be, but when this is all over I will have a real story to tell.

"Several times I have been threatened. Telephone calls from anonymous callers have come to me.

Just last Wednesday, in the shadow of this courthouse when I came in here before, I was approached by a man in the street. He asked me if I—no, I will tell you just what he said.

"He said, 'Are you Mrs. Belcher?' I said yes. I thought he was a man going to serve a summons on me. He said, 'Are you going to testify in the Dale case?' I said, 'Yes, I am.'

HIS SINISTER LOOK

"He said to me, 'You are healthy now and if you want to stay healthy, don't do any talking in the case.' He was a sinister looking person.

I reported this, and the telephone calls, to Asst. Dist. Atty. Edward J. Sullivan and I gave a description of the man to him. He said he thought he knew who the man was. I have heard nothing more about it.

I have had telephone calls at anonymous, telling me to keep quiet and not to talk. But when I [illegible] to check back on who was calling. I was told the calls could not be traced."

Twins' Twin Cancers Cured

ROCHESTER, Minn., May 2 (AP)—Two women, identical twins are cited in the proceedings of the Mayo Clinic as evidence that heredity is partly responsible for cancer.

Both women came to the clinic for treatment, both were cured and both are still well. One sister arrived three years ahead of the other. She had cancers in both breasts.

Her sister came later with exacting the same cancers in exacting the same locations. In both, the first of the two cancers appeared on the same side.

Dr. R. B. Phillips said they were the first of the kind at the Mayo Clinic, but not the first in medical history. He told of two other identical twin women who had breast cancers, on the same side, and within a few months of each other. This happened when they were 91.

Identical twins are accepted among scientists as one of the best means of studying heredity.

In the past twelve months—since Jenney Solvenized Gasoline was introduced—New England motorists have bought millions of gallons—enough, in fact, to drive 750,000,000 miles!

Those miles have cost their drivers less, they have been smoother, more powerful, safer—because of Jenney Solvenized. Here, for the first time, is a gasoline so much better you can feel the difference. The exclusive Solvenized process dissolves gum, and softens the carbon formation on valve seats, behind rings, on piston heads. The softened carbon can then be blown out and away by the action of your motor. Compression is increased, gasoline power that used to leak away is held in the cylinders, and your mileage and power go up.

Jenney Solvenized is the greatest gasoline improvement in 10 years. Try it, and get a new idea of how powerful your car can be!

And for even greater power and economy, use Jenney Solvenoil—perfect teammate for Solvenized Gasoline. Lasts longer, protects better, reduces friction and so increases power.

Weston Rector Assails Hicks' Appointment

WORCESTER, May 2—Appointment of Granville Hicks, [illegible] and [illegible] has brought the censure of the Rev. Father A. Hewitt, S.J., rector of Worcester College.

"It is still more dangerous to place a student, whose mind is open to all propaganda and radical thought, in a position where he will assimilate the leftwing teachings of 'Red' professors, who make no attempt to hide their atheistic tendencies.

SHE COMBS THE WORLD FOR PICTURES THAT THRILL

What Margaret Bourke-White, famous photographer, said when Ralph Martin asked if she found a difference in cigarettes

"Cigarettes seem pretty much alike to me. Do you find some difference between Camels and the others, Miss Bourke-White?"
"I've found that Camels are very different, Mr. Martin—not in just one way, but in a hundred ways. For example, my nerves must be put to the test—wanted as a stenographer knows. Camels don't tang—nor bite. They taste extra mild and delicate too. Camels never leave an unpleasant after-taste, and they're so gentle to the throat. In fact, Camels agree with me in every way! I think that's what counts most—now your cigarette agrees with you!"

STEEL MILLS, lumber camps, dams, skyscrapers, coal mines, subways far above—appeal to Margaret Bourke-White. She has gone all over the United States, into far countries. And her photographs are now internationally famous for their vigor and interest. They're different! And that's the same remark that Miss Bourke-White made about Camels to Ralph Martin at the New York World's Fair grounds (right).

MISS BOURKE-WHITE, like most modern women, likes dancing and the theatre. "And," she says, "I have Camels with me. Candy makes a big difference in smoking."

ONE SMOKER TELLS ANOTHER "CAMELS AGREE WITH ME!"

Leading growers tell their preference in cigarettes — it's Camel!

"We smoke Camels because we know tobacco," tobacco planters say

"I'm a tobacco planter," says Norvell Barton, who has grown tobacco for 25 years. "But Camel folks pay a sight more for our better tobaccos. Last crop they took my finest grades. I smoke Camels—I know there's no substitute for expensive tobaccos. Most planters favor Camels."

"I've been planting tobacco for twenty years," says grower Harry C. King. "The Camel people bought the cream of my last crop, paid more for my best tobacco. So I know they use finer, more expensive tobaccos in Camels. That's one mighty good reason why my cigarette is Camel."

"It's a fact! Camel uses costlier tobaccos," says Floyd [illegible], who knows tobacco from the ground up. Last year I grew a [illegible] crop and I [illegible] Camels use more of these costlier tobaccos. I smoke Camels—as do my fellow planters. I [illegible] they're [illegible]."

$4100 Bank Larceny By Race Bettor Charged

ELDRIDGE CROCKETT
Pleads Guilty to Larceny Charge

Accused by police of "playing the horses," Eldridge Crockett, 31, single, of Lexington street, Arlington, a downtown bank collection clerk, today surrendered on a secret indictment warrant charging larceny of $4100 from the bank.

Taken to Suffolk Superior Court by Sergeant John F. Petitti of the Joy street station to whom he surrendered, Crockett pleaded guilty. Judge Frederick W. Fenton ordered a report on sentence would be made later.

According to Sergeant Petitti, Crockett told him he was sorry for everything.

The Arlington bank clerk the police officer declared had played his "own hunches on the horses."

Police also declared they were searching for several banks for questioning in connection with the case.

The alleged shortage in bank funds was in tax, Christmas and vacation club money.

The sergeant quoted Crockett as saying that he had been playing the horses a number of years but only for small stakes.

The Arlington man, according to police, had been in San Francisco until recently.

Margot Grahame Unusual Feminist

'Women's Power Lies in Glamour'

By ANN MARSTERS

Margot Grahame is a feminist! But not the kind that believes in "women's rights" or "the single standard."

As a matter of fact she thinks that when women won the vote they lost a great deal more than they gained. "It was," she says, "a great mistake."

The subject came up at the Ivy Carlton where [illegible] a party [illegible] at which [illegible] the [illegible] Lady [illegible] Mary [illegible] James Lorimer were [illegible] as other notables.

THIRD "SEVENTH"

Margot [illegible] "I devoted the first seven years of my career to the stage," she said, "then I went into pictures for seven years. Now I'm beginning the third 'seventh' with my first appearance on the American stage."

She was [illegible] Cecil [illegible] a pers[illegible]

GLAMOUR FOR ALL

"You know," she said, "I have a great admiration for my own sex. But I deplore the fact that women have made an effort to 'meet men on their own ground.'

"Women should remember they have a natural advantage. A man has no glamour. But all women can acquire glamour, even though they must use artificial means, such as pretty clothes and the right kind of make-up.

"And women lose their glamour when they try to talk politics or economics or other masculine subjects. Let the men do the talking and let the women listen."

DIFFERENT BRAIN

Margot [illegible] "a different type of brain."

"And I cannot believe," she said, "that women will ever succeed, to any important degree, in what we now look upon as purely masculine fields of endeavor. Anyway, I hope not."

MARGOT GRAHAME ANN MARSTERS

REAL FEMINIST GIVES VIEWS: Margot Grahame, English actress, discussing women, their "rights" and their clothes with Miss Ann Marsters, Boston Evening American feature writer. She regrets women "won the vote" and deplores their efforts to invade men's spheres. She favors romantic dresses and dainty, strictly feminine hats, like those worn by herself and Miss Marsters in photo for milady's wardrobe.

Subversive outrages against American principles and institutions by the organized Communist and Fascist ENEMIES OF AMERICA, have passed all bounds of endurance.

American laws are being openly flaunted and ignored.

American citizens are being subjected to insult and violence.

Girl About Town -:- by Ann Marsters

WE'VE always imagined that the expression "O. K." was purely of American origin but, lo and behold, that isn't so at all. It originated in the Netherlands and we have learned how it happened.

Ann Marsters

It seems that the national greeting of Holland is "How did you sleep?" to which the usual answer is "Kapok."

Now kapok is a fine material from the Netherlands East Indies and when mixed in the stuffing of mattresses the Hollanders are so fond of, has another meaning that the word originally came to mean that they slept very well. Gradually the word was shortened to its last two letters and O K came to be an accepted and widely used expression.

So, if you are ever in the Netherlands and you are asked "How did you sleep?" it will be quite all right to answer "O K" but it's still considered a bit more gracious to use the full word "Kapok."

NOT EVEN ANGELS can play baseball in shorts on the Boston Common. Nine of them from the "I Married An Angel" show at the Shubert Theater were all set for a baseball game with a group of Boston newspaper photographers. It was a very warm day, and the girls wanted to play in shorts. But City Censor John Spencer said NO. Here's hoping it settles over 'Sex' stories.

The girls were looking forward to the game and their gams would have looked cute.

We wonder if Mr. Spencer thought it would be wise to censor Hitler's gams for Fuehrer Hitler. We're sure Chancellor Dollfuss would be interested to see pictures of the latest in Austrian fashions.

The angels should get to play ball.

TO A GOLDEN HAIRED GIRL

You are a pansy

You are my love

As one strong enough

WE ASKED no matter of what Mr. Peterson's speech, her lecture at Symphony Hall, on TV for evening, so we'll tell you about it now.

Her dress was fine mother-of-pearl satin. The entire dress was covered with fine pearl beads. It was cut on the bias ground and fitted her as tightly as the proverbial skin of an apple. The First Lady has a very slender, willowy figure. She wore a corsage of orchids and a few diamond rings and pearl bracelets.

She talked slowly with no mannerisms at all. She made no notes. She kept her facts carefully in mind and continued to speak most of the time looking directly at her audience.

Trust-Busting -:- by Hugh S. Johnson

HOT SPRINGS, Va., Oct. 1.—I want very much to tell you about what is happening to the NRA. I mean—in recovery in the real sense of real people and real jobs around me and in factories. That is in the Washington way.

It is a good way and a necessary way. But, strangely to the point of worry, it leaves out a lot of things that I want to tell you about. Charts and statistics are bad tools. In the words of the great Washington Radio Broadcaster, Lowell Thomas, they are "the bunk."

General Johnson

But never has any writing or talking been able to get at the real issues any expression of what John L. Lewis calls "the hopes and the fears of the unfortunate lord of the earth, Joseph." These hopes and fears are precisely what make people buy and vote and invest or not do so.

There is only one way to find out what they are: to talk with people whose lives and fears influence production.

The last time I do that is when they are at least a little relaxed and that is partly why I am spending a day at Virginia Hot Springs.

It is an occasional place for convertibles and retreats of recent business.

Some of them I know personally, for example the lady at whom my exhausted words are moving out of the city in cars which were backed up by the depression. Most of them, since the State of Maryland courts and the prosecutor's office is at their wits' end to find a way to stop the racketeering in Baltimore, are not there. The racketeers and gangsters are. Baltimore is a good place to get away from them.

Business and especially industry is in a better and more hopeful mood than it has been since 1929. The automobile industry, which is the greatest consumer of the products of all other industries, is going "full blast." Each of the "big three" has announced that their 1934 factory wages will be higher. No reliable expert expects a relapse next winter.

The government gestapo, which seemed to haunt and threaten all business, has ceased to exist. Even the Anti-Trust Act, with which I personally was largely responsible, is a dead letter.

The Anti-Trust Act was about a page and a half of an attempted definition of a crime for this unfortunate profession, or business. It is the most stupid piece of legislation ever enacted.

IF THERE are evils in business they should be prosecuted and abolished. But it is not necessary to threaten all business with assault. If there are things unjustly mentioned or misunderstood we can't get at them. But it is a great deal to hear what they are. But it is a great deal to hear what they are. But it is a great deal to hear what they are.

The new Trade Practice Codes are simply the basic New Deal straight. [illegible]

12 Start Job To Modernize The Bible

CHICAGO, May 2 (AP)—A group of distinguished theologians undertook today a monumental five-year task of revising the Bible to give "an official version embodying the best results of modern scholarship."

The revision, projected by the International Council of Religious Education, will be the first since 1901 when the American standard version was published.

Dr. William A. Irwin of the University of Chicago, one of 12 scholars chosen to do the work, said in a special interview that the revision was undertaken because "some words and phrases of the King James version, published in 1611, are obscure if not actually unintelligible to the modern reader.

"When the King James version was produced it was a great achievement of biblical scholarship," Dr. Irwin said. "And it continues one of the literary treasures of our language, coming as it does from the age of Shakespeare and Milton.

"But what can the modern reader make of the information, for example, that the onyx stones on the shoulders of the high priest's robe were 'inclosed in ouches of gold' or that the golden candlestick was adorned with 'knops'?"

Iowa First State To Join 3rd Party

Copyright, 1938, by International News Service

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., May 2 (INS)—Iowa stands forth today as the first state to fall definitely in line with Wisconsin in Governor Philip F. LaFollette's new National Progressive Party.

But the position of Minnesota, another state mentioned as an early candidate for the third party banner, was less certain.

The youthful LaFollette himself summarized Iowa's reaction to his National Progressive idea just before he left for Madison, Wis. after his two-day invasion of the Hawkeye state. He said:

"From expressions made by people I have talked with here in Iowa, it seems reasonably clear that there will be a National Progressive ticket in Iowa in 1938."

Pressed for details the 40-year-old Wisconsin governor said his new party probably will have in Iowa a complete slate under its own name.

He added, however:

"Nobody from outside is coming into this State to say who will be candidates. That will be settled in Iowa.

The National Progressives are promoting a new party, we are not promoting candidates. I believe that by the end of this week there will be announced a list of Iowa liberal leaders who will form a State Association to become a unit of our national organization."

At the same time, in Madison, Harold Peterson, executive secretary of the Minnesota Farm Labor Party, informed the Governor's associate that Minnesota party will join the National Progressives and that the new movement is by definite promise of representing third party forces on a national scale.

"Third party forces" that would be with sympathy with the Labor Party Peterson said included the American Federation of Labor, the Committee for Industrial Organization, the Nebraska Farm Bureau Association, the Minnesota Farmers Union and all the liberal forces in the state.

Stork Balks Trek

OPELOUSAS, La., May 2 (INS)—David Sweatt, who is hauling his family in a wagon on a 700-mile journey through Louisiana, was temporarily balked by Mr. Stork today.

Shortly after the family arrived here in their strange, hand-pulled caravan a baby was born to Mrs. Sweatt on an improvised bed in a garage where the family had been given shelter.

Sweatt, who is en route to Baton Rouge, where he says a job awaits his arrival, has lugged the family cart for eight weeks, averaging 20 to 30 miles a day.

Riding in the wagon are Mrs. Sweatt, three children, the family belongings and a crate containing eight chickens. Following the birth of the baby in the garage the mother and child were taken to a hospital. The mother, who has borne six children, said this was her first time in a hospital.

HOLLYWOOD (Cal.) May 2. There is less battling in Hollywood among the big producers now than at any time since the movies became an art. What with the feuders off in corners and business all over the country nothing to brag about, every studio has a Pollyanna attitude instead of a dog eat dog feeling. The latest evidence is this is Samuel Goldwyn's willingness to lend two stars and a director to Carl Laemmle Rogers at Universal.

Cottons for Play or Town

COTTON has the spandy sparkle of early morning sun on waves . . . you'll feel as fresh and gay in these two budget finds. Left, in solid colors this one can go to town (around six dollars).

BY ANNICE BRINK

IT WOULDN'T be fair to a perennial favorite for summer cottons to overlook it in the dither about the miraculous synthetics. For design for a devastating young charm, both of these choices above are tops. Notice the cleverness of the stitched pockets whose tiered effect carries on into the sleeves. In darker colors you can't beat this for town. Distinctly of the pretty and slightly coquettish class is the striped cotton with notch neck sleeves, a shirred waist and button-down front. For shopping information on these budget frocks, phone Annice Brink, Fashion Editor, LIBerty 1000, week-days until five, or write her at the Boston American.

Constance Takes Desperate Chance

CHAPTER 19

Rosalind was upstairs and Constance and her parents were on the porch when the Howard car stopped before the house about ten o'clock that night. For a long time no one had spoken. Either her father or mother could, Constance thought, if he was silent. He would not speak to Rosalind.

LONDON AIDS NEW YORK

Very often traders and investors lose sight of the importance of movements in the London market. This time clouds the fact that if London is pointing down English investors will sell in New York to protect home holdings. Consequently the reversal there of the down trend, at least temporarily, is significant in that it means substantial selling of our stocks because of distress there is not a factor to reckon with in the near term.

NO SIGNIFICANCE

The stock market recently has not supplied one significant clue as to the direction of the next important move. Industrialists have retraced the to-be-expected 50 per cent of the previous upswing, and rails, after a minor rally, have held close to their high. The question now puzzling observers is whether or not a new upswing can be initiated. Without more to go on than is now available we decline to venture a guess.

Chimp Stays Up On Steeple

ANSONIA, Conn., May 2 (AP)—A 50-pound chimpanzee that escaped from its cage in an exposition here went to church yesterday but, instead of joining the congregation, indulged in acrobatics on the steeple and remained there today.

Police said the steeple at the church of the Assumption was so lofty that they had no recourse but to wait for the animal to come down.

The chimpanzee escaped when the exposition ended and its keeper, Cole Smith of Frank Buck's jungle farm in Amityville, L. I., left town yesterday. He warned that the six-year-old animal was inclined to be vicious and was liable to attack if molested.

While several hundred watched, a crew from a carnival made an attempt to lure the simian from its perch but soon gave up.

Finds Humans Inherit More From Mothers

By G. B. LAL
International News Service Science Editor.

(Copyright 1938.)

PRINCETON, N. J., May 2 (INS)—Human beings inherit more from their mothers than from their fathers, according to Dr. Edwin G. Conklin, professor of biology at Princeton University, and one of the world's foremost scientists.

In discussing the significance of some recent biological experiments, Prof. Conklin said:

"We inherit more from mothers than from fathers.

"It is reasonable to assume that because we know that development begins to take place in the eggs, even before they are fertilized."

The egg, the female germ-cell does not remain quiet and stationary by itself. Internal growth starts looking forward to the ultimate production of the animal.

Already before the fertilization, some pattern of the future human child or animal offspring is laid in the ground egg.

Altogether, Professor Conklin disclosed, some light has been thrown upon the mystery of heredity and pre-natal development of higher life. The role of the mother appeared more important than ever before, in the outcome of these Princeton studies.

Austen Lake Says

Something to Shame The Wrestlers

AMONG THE "ASTOUNDING AND STUPENDOUS aggregation of educational oddities" which the Circus brought into town today is a 450-pound, ash-colored monster which is sure to make Papa Paul Bowser's eyes leak with envy. For Pere Paul could renovate the wrestling business with Gargantua's size, heft, agility and facial contortions. Gorky is only a seven-year-old stripling as gorillas go, but it could wring out any and all of Pere Paul's mat anthropoids with a single airplane whirl.

AUSTEN LAKE

Not until I had a preview of Gargy at the winter quarters at Sarasota, Fla., last month did I realize the full significance of the late Arthur Brisbane's remark after the Carnera-Baer fight. Mr. Brisbane was not impressed. Mr. Brisbane pinched his nostrils twixt thumb and forefinger Said he, "A gorilla could lick them both."

This is the purest understatement. As Gargy strips down to his fuzzy buff in his new, $20,000 air-conditioned cage, he could whip the entire division of heavyweight pugs, all at once, with half of the middleweights thrown in—as sly, vicious and lethal a beast as ever sent icicles down a spine.

* * *

King Snake Has His Number

LAST MONTH I STOOD IN THE little frame shack wherein Gargantua's old cage, one with four-inch intervals between the bars, was housed. Gargy was imprisoned in solitary after a series of near tragedies. Dick Koener, a dour, sallow faced little German who has been Gargy's life-long keeper, wished to do a job of sanitary work in the inside of the cage. He brought in a king-snake, a six foot serpent as black and shiny as a boot, and inserted its wriggling coils under the bars, holding tight to its tail.

On the instant the snarling, chest-thumping gorilla turned into a plaid-scrabbling hulk which grovelled and blubbered like a whipped puppy in a far corner of the cage. Koener's helper slid a portable bars in place and cramped the creature in one end while Koener entered the evacuated portion to complete his chamber work. It is the only method by which he can control Gargy.

Yet for all his 51 foot, 450 pounds and 11-foot spread of arm, Gargantua is still in the teething stage of jungle childhood. Not for several years will he face the facts of life.

Koener, a morose little man, received Gargy as a puny, howling 22-pound infant five years ago from a Dutch freighter and carried him ashore in his arms. Dick taught him to walk, play leapfrog, build blocks and tinker with tin cans. He slept near his pet at night, fed him by hand and nursed him through the sniffles. But as the months passed Gargy grew bigger and tougher. Occasionally baiting his keeper a mischievous lick with his hairy arms, or hugging him in a rib-cracking embrace.

* * *

SO GARGY HAD TO BE CAGED. His nature soured immediately and he became increasingly ferocious, until today he has the mentality of a criminal paranoiac—one against the world, and quick to rend anything within reach. Last month, as we stood in the shack at Sarasota, careful to stay beyond arm length, Gargy made several lightning grabs through the bars with his bunch-of-banana hands. John Ringling North, the young circus owner and ex-Yale man, was nearly with his arm swathed in bandages.

A week before North had been negligent and Gargy swept him up like a rag doll, banging his head against the bars and munching an arm with long, yellow fangs. Only an alert blow with an iron bar by Koener saved the circus owner from a fatal mangling. A few days later, Koener's turn came. He was opening a ventilator with a long stick when the gorilla grabbed his arm. The trainer raised it to slip out of the sleeves, but Gargy was quicker. He swung Koener high against the side of the cage and chewed his hand to a bloody pulp until the German managed to poke the end of his ventilator stick down the beast's throat. Koener still carried the injured member in a sanitary glove when I saw him today and will carry a partially crippled hand for the rest of his life.

* * *

FEEDING TIME IS ALWAYS AN ADVENTURE for Koener. "We feed him one meal and that one continues all day," said Dick, reaching up a banana as he spoke and causing the enormous animal to stand upright with its hands clutching the bars. "I want to keep an eye on dose hands," said Dick, popping the yellow fruit into Gargy's capacious maw and watching the rubbery lips enfold it like the suction nozzle of a vacuum cleaner. Then the trainer emptied milk from a container with a long spout as the animal shaped its snoot like a bird bath.

Being vegetarian, gorillas eat only growing things, celery bunches which Gargy crunches like a rock crusher, loaves of bread which he scoops out until nothing remains but the shell of the crust, tins of spaghetti which he absorbs with one suction. His gustatory technique is that usually seen at a training table in a fighter's camp where the spar boys lean their chins on the level with the table and stretch their necks to meet the food.

Yes, I think Papa Paul could renovate wrestling with seven-year-old Gargy. He might throw him in with his new Polish find, Wladyslaw Talun, the largest hunk of humanity extant, to invent a new set of holds.

Doping Horses Thing of Past

This is the second of a series of articles on the "Inside Story of Racing"

By DAVE WILSON

Most exaggerated menace of racing, according to the statement of Chairman Charles Connors of the Massachusetts State Racing Commission before the National Association of Racing Commissioners at Miami this winter, was that of "doping," the use of narcotics to stimulate a horse to efforts beyond himself.

Chairman of the committee on the use of narcotics in horse racing, Connors based his statement on a nation-wide survey of the prevalence of the use of dope to stimulate horses.

The survey revealed that the practice has become virtually extinct in comparison to the number of horses racing.

The practice does exist, of course, but to a minor degree and is being gradually stamped out, due to the efforts of Harry Ainslinger, federal commissioner of narcotics, working in co-operation with the various state racing commissions.

Even Greatest Horses Used It

Prior to 1932, however, no professional horse player by that term I mean a man who earns his living playing horses) would consider making a bet on a horse without first visiting the paddock to find which horses were running with the benefit of a stimulant and those which were not.

Some of the greatest horses in the history of racing in this country could not run a pick without the exciting stimulus of their favorite prescription.

Prior to 1932 even on the "big rings," those half mile and mile league tracks where the owners could not afford expensive prescriptions, they had their own stimulants, quite the most common of which was whiskey and coffee.

I can remember standing next to a jockey to a wealthy horse owner at a harness meeting while he watched his horse being harnessed. A woman spectator standing nearby remarked:

"My, aren't that horse's eyes bright!"

With the sharp wit for which he was noted, the gentleman replied:

"Your eyes would be bright too, lady, if you were as full of belladonna as he is."

AFRAID OF NARCOTICS

Since Ainslinger and his men began waging a relentless war with the racketeers who were smuggling dope into such [illegible] and with the help of the [illegible] in the tests so as to make [illegible] impossible to find a [illegible] which had been given, the saliva tests between heats [illegible] afraid of using [illegible] stimulate their horses.

For a time after the [illegible] settled down to the genial use of the saliva test, which was imported to this country from [illegible] and first used out in [illegible] evening with [illegible] spectacle.

Then the actions in form of the horses of certain trainers gave [illegible] that they had discovered a prescription which did not register in the test.

Quietly and efficiently, however, the Narcotics Bureau chemists were working to improve the test.

[illegible] was [illegible] the [illegible] season [illegible] two years ago [illegible] when one of the horses trained by George [illegible] of the Metropolitan Plate, [illegible] last known [illegible] the game, was tested [illegible] at the Spa and the [illegible] a positive trace of [illegible] drug of which there [illegible] would [illegible] could be determined in the saliva test as first used.

TEST ALMOST PERFECT

Needless to say, there was an immediate [illegible] in form of several suspected horses after it was revealed that the saliva test in its improved form could not detect cocaine.

According to [illegible] Chemists [illegible] test will [illegible] react to the presence of 50 different drugs and stimulants.

(Dave Wilson will have another article on the "Inside Story of Racing" in tomorrow's Boston Evening American).

Bettors Secure Fresh Money | Thorp Pleased by Good Racing

By JACK CONWAY

OTHER THAN Joe Cashman's amazing ability to end up with losing mutuel tickets, I would say that the two standouts of the Suffolk Downs opening were good racing and the surprisingly large mutuel handle of $541,788.

Mr Boston

Of course $541,788 is still small change compared to the seven billion dollar pump priming program of the government, but my old neighbors in Roxbury always told me to never fail to give serious consideration to a six-figure collection of dollars.

President Jim Connors of Suffolk Downs used to live in Roxbury before he became wealthy and moved to Newton, and he also probably learned as a boy that any time you pass the half-million mark you are talking about real money.

The controlling powers at Suffolk Downs will today admit they had some worries about the mutuel handle before Saturday opening. They knew Florida and California had enjoyed [illegible] figures that show [illegible] Maryland tracks had experienced a $2,000,000 a day drop in betting.

There will, of course, be a betting drop on days early in the week until Wednesday becomes a half-holiday for many people. The Saturdays and holidays will be happy ones for the owners of race tracks, and when the weather gets warmer there will be days when as much as $500,000 to $700,000 is poured through the mutuel windows.

It is difficult to think we are going through another depression when you see folks betting more than $500,000 on one afternoon. It is fortunate that a share of this huge pot goes to the state and that it eventually is used by the various cities and towns for old age assistance.

Kaplan Intent on Kayo In Bout With Raymond

Arena Scene Of Tonight's Fistic War

Nothing but a knockout victory will satisfy Mike Kaplan when he clashes with Lew Raymond from Baltimore tonight at the Boston Arena in the 10-round feature fray of the Goodwin A. C. fistic show.

Kaplan rules only a 6-5 favorite, and those who have seen Raymond in action insist he'll give Kaplan more trouble than he's encountered in any recent fight.

But Kaplan, full of fight after a semi-vacation in the South and strong as a circus weight-lifter after the trip, now hitting the scales at over 140 pounds, doesn't think Raymond is going to be around long after the first bell clangs.

Kaplan plans a whirlwind attack from the start, planning to hit Raymond hard and frequently enough to add a k. o. to his list of ring triumphs.

Paris Apice

It is a rather amazing list at that. Kaplan has been coming like a hurricane since he turned pro after failing to attract much notice as an amateur.

Raymond is very highly regarded in the New York and Baltimore circle. He's a nephew of Vince and Joe Dundee and packs much of their class.

It looms as a whirlwind bout all the way with Kaplan holding a slight edge in boxing ability but Raymond having it on him for a few pounds in weight and some more in the important matter of experience.

Dante Yannetti, Chelsea, and Jolting Joe Glasgow, Quincy, are booked up in an 8-round semifinal which may provide a punch-packed shuffle.

In sixes Frankie Campbell, North End, faces Irish Johnny Smith, Quincy, and Young Byron, Roxbury, tackles speedy Paris Apice of Providence.

It will be Fred Cabral, Cambridge, making his local professional debut, vs. Eddie Bangs, Boston, in the opening four.

Popular young Mike Kaplan, who returns to local wars tonight against Lew Raymond at the Arena, is shown admiring his fistic idol—Benny Leonard. Mike hopes to be as great some day as Leonard used to be. He's made a good start.

'Crusher,' Bowser At Fete

Steve "Crusher" Casey, recognized by the American Wrestling Association as heavyweight king, will be present at the gala birthday party for the Boston Evening American Night Sports Final at the Club Mayfair next Monday night.

Paul Bowser

The mighty Crusher, who recently left the hospital where he had been confined with a knee infection, is resting up before returning to the mat wars.

Another champion of wrestling who will attend the big affair is Paul Bowser, New England's leading promoter.

Bowser started as a promoter here on a very small scale and kept advancing until his matches smashed records in this part of the country.

The match Bowser held between Strangler Lewis and Gus Sonnenberg years ago grossed in the neighborhood of $70,000, a sum which has never even been approached by boxing in New England.

It was Bowser who first saw possibilities in Sonnenberg and other collegians.

Other sports celebrities who will attend the grand party next Monday night are:

Joe Cronin, Jimmy Foxx, Pinky Higgins, Moe Berg, Doc Cramer, Joe Vosmik, Ben Chapman, Oscar Vitt, Bob Feller, Moose Solters, Earl Averill, Jack Sharkey, Al McCoy, Lou Brouillard, Sammy Fuller, George Martin, Ralph Zanelli, C. F. Adams, George Linnehan, Charles F. Connors, Lou Smith, Judge James Dooley, Russ Murray, Billy Ames, Jim Egan, Doc Palumbo, Leslie Pawson, Art Ross, Pat Hanley, Rip Valenti, Governor Charles F. Hurley, Mayor Maurice J. Tobin, Lt. Governor Francis J. Kelley, District Attorney William J. Foley, Attorney General Paul A. Dever, State Auditor Thomas A. Buckley, Ina Ray Hutton and Shep Fields.

Robert Takes Casey's $5000

Steve (Crusher) Casey, world heavyweight wrestling champion, is $5000 poorer today as result of an infected knee which forced him to undergo an emergency operation and to cancel a scheduled titular conflict with Yvon Robert, No. 1 challenger, at the Garden.

Yvon Robert

Robert, against the advice of well-wishers, demanded and accepted $5000 appearance forfeit Casey put up, guaranteeing he would go through with the battle.

McCoy-Monez Bout Postponed

BANGOR, Me., May 2—An injury to Jose Monez, Portuguese heavyweight champion, caused a postponement of the bout between Monez and Al McCoy, New England heavyweight champion, which was scheduled to be held here tonight.

Eagles to Meet B. U. Tomorrow

Championship feud between Boston College Eagles and Boston University Terriers will be carried to Nickerson field tomrrow afternoon as the two nines meet in the first game of a three game series.

Coach Frank McCrehan will probably call upon Charlie O'Hara, lanky southpaw, to toe the rubber, while Mel Collard will, no doubt, give Bob Leahy the starting nod.

The Eagles have won five out of seven games to date.

Leahy defeated Harvard recently for the third time in two years.

The Eagles also have games with Northeastern on Kent field on Thursday, Middlebury at the Heights on Friday and Mass. State at Amherst on Saturday.

Top Tax Cinch In Suffolk Fourth

By DAVE WILSON
(Selections for fast track)
BEST BET—TOP TAX—4TH RACE

Top Tax, freshened and thoroughly re-conditioned since Tropical Park, is figured to chalk up an easy victory at the expense of $2500-$2100 rivals encountered in the six furlongs of the fourth stanza at Suffolk Downs tomorrow.

Top Tax zoomed the fastest five-eighths trial—1:02—recorded over last Saturday's slow track.

FIRST RACE
Inscription, Poppinalong, Hildegarde

INSCRIPTION, a six-year-old Messenger mare from the stable of Mrs. H. O. Simmons, has the stamp of approval from the clockers, and she needs only to run back to late Tropical Park form to insure brackets. POPPINALONG, the only danger finished right on the money in several New Orleans outings. HILDEGARDE figures to improve.

SECOND RACE
Princess Torch, Very Busy, Bryonin

PRINCESS TORCH, a Tropical Park winner, had the clockers goggle-eyed the other morning when she whirled six panels in 1:14 easier than breaking sticks. VERY BUSY, on Florida form, shapes up slightly better than BRYONIN.

THIRD RACE
Principessa, Mad Kerry, My Pauline

PRINCIPESSA, on a recent work from the barrier in 1:15, is being four-starred by the split-second experts as the best thing of the meeting. MAD KERRY was good enough to place to old Takus in one of his several New Orleans outings.

FOURTH RACE
Top Tax, Mixwell, Porcellus

MIXWELL to drub. The latter figures next best in what appears to be strictly a two-horse race. PORCELLUS, on a good Bowie race, should be able to withstand the screen test for show honors.

FIFTH RACE
Posterity, Paragon entry, Palmer

POSTERITY, according to clockers, is one of the fittest horses on the grounds. On top Florida form, he figures to stand a world of beating. FAMILY FRIEND and DEEP END, coupled as the Paragon entry, shape up slightly better than WILLIAM PALMER.

SIXTH RACE
Founder, Synod, Garden Message

FOUNDER won going away in a six furlong sprint on opening day, and the increased yardage of this number looms fully within the realm of his staying powers. SYNOD ran for more money in Maryland and Oaklawn competition, but he will have to shake a wicked leg to head the top selection. Old GARDEN MESSAGE had trained well.

SEVENTH RACE
Peaceful, Wulfstan, L'Etoile

PEACEFUL and WULFSTAN figure pretty much alike on the past winter's form in Florida. I'm going to tempt fate by rating them as named. L'ETOILE for the remainder.

EIGHTH RACE
Vitamin B, Blind Brook, Berry Patch

VITAMIN B. almost beat Jim John in his Maryland final, and that slashing performance is good enough for me. BLIND BROOK finished close up in several Tropical Park outings. He needs only to run his race to save the place from BERRY PATCH.

False Timing on Jim Lightbody

By WALTER KILEY

Dick Gill, red-headed Boston College track captain and Alex Northrop, Harvard's sorrel topped leader, emerged from the New England Relay Carnival as outstanding contenders for intercollegiate titles.

Gill, picking up eight yards on the Crimson's Jim Lightbody on the final leg of the mile relay, toured the 440 route in 47.8, according to the accurate timing of Coach Jack Ryder.

Northrop, bandied about for the past three years, finally found himself and turned in his most brilliant performance, a mile victory in four minutes 17 6-10 seconds, best of the New England season and one of the lowest ever turned in by a local collegian.

Northrop's effort was all the more noteworthy considering that he raced the last quarter-mile minus his right shoe, a fact which, in the opinion of veteran coaches, cost him anywhere from one to two seconds.

TIMING OFF

Whoever it was who timed Lightbody at 47.1 for his leg against Gill was far off. Actually, according to several watches on the headliners, the Harvard star did 49 seconds flat. And the runner, himself, was the first to argue that the announced time credited him was far off.

Incidentally, Dick Floyd of Harvard claims that Harvard has high hopes of bringing the 1939 Intercollegiate track and field meet back to the Stadium.

It was always held at Philadelphia and Harvard alternating years up to last season, when it was given to Randalla Island and returned there this year.

Irish Olympic King Coming to U. S.

O'Callaghan To Box Or Wrestle

Dr. Patrick O'Callaghan, famous Irish Olympic champion, has cabled Jack Conway, sports editor of the Boston Evening American - Sunday Advertiser, that he is sailing for the United States.

Dan O'Mahony

"I have not decided yet," read Dr. O'Callaghan's cable, "whether to compete as a boxer or as a wrestler.

"If Joe Louis should defeat Max Schmeling, I may decide to enter the ring, and try to win back the heavyweight boxing title for the white race."

Dr. O'Callaghan shattered all Olympic weight throwing records.

Danno is in a class by himself in tossing weights up to 56 pounds.

Dr. O'Callaghan will arrive in New York on May 12.

John Woodruff Back in Stride

NEW YORK, May 2 (AP)—Ever since Pittsburgh's Long John Woodruff first qualified for the 1936 Olympic team, the track fans have been asking "How fast can he run?" and even his three brilliant performances in the Penn relays at Philadelphia Friday and Saturday brought them no nearer to a solution.

All they did was prove that Woodruff is in shape for a fine Summer season. He ran three winning anchor legs, at three different distances, in three near-record times, and yet never appeared pressed.

The first time Long John brought home the baton and the bacon, he ran a 1:49.9 half-mile, only three tenths of a second behind Elroy Robinson's world record, to give Pitt its second straight sprint medley title. His quarter in Pitt's mile relay victory was 47.4. While no time was announced for his share of the 880 relay, breaking down the Panthers' 1:26.6 would give him at least 21.4 or 21.5 for the furlong.

In the medley Woodruff took over in fourth place and gian-strided to victory; in the half-mile he made a three-yard lead out of a one-yard deficit, and in the mile he held a five-yard lead safe.

Menow Headley Derby Hope

(This is another of a series of daily stories introducing the leading three-year-olds of the American turf, which will vie for honors in the Kentucky Derby, Saturday.

MENOW, b. c., by Pharamond II—Alcibiades, by Supremus.

Owned by Hal Price Headley and trained by Duval Headley. MENOW is the main Kentucky Derby hope of the Headley nominees which also include Bourbon King . . . Menow has already been termed the "Jinx" horse of the classic as no Belmont Futurity winner has ever won the Churchill Downs event . . . Menow has wintered at Hialeah Park and made his first start of the current season at the Keeneland session. It was a winning one, only to be followed by a defeat . . . This has not dampened the hopes of breeder-owner Headley to win the Saturday event . . . Menow was generally hailed as the juvenile champion of the 1937 season, after he ran the six and a half furlongs of the Belmont Futurity in 1:15 1-5, setting a new world's record . . . Although Pharamond II, Menow's daddy, has yet to turn out a topnotch stayer, horsemen are of the opinion that Menow will be able to go a route . . . Menow's complete 1937 record was six starts, three wins and two seconds. His total earnings reached the fine sum of $65,725 . . . Charlie Kurtsinger, War Admiral's pilot, will be astride Menow in the Derby.

(Another of this series tomorrow.)

Tufts Primes For Road Trip

Now that Coach Ken Nash has whipped his Tufts nine into top form, he will put them through light workouts for the next two days to keep them on edge for the American International, Springfield College and Williams College games scheduled Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Springfield and Williamstown.

The three outstanding hurlers, Veterans Tony Wojy, Jack Hughes and Sophomore Al Hatch, will work in that order on the trip.

George Chiros, alert Jumbo shortstop who inaugurated a triple-play last Saturday, only to be removed from the game later when a grounder bounced into his eye, is O. K. but for a "shiner."

Pasch Favorite In English Derby

LONDON, May 2 (AP)—H. E. Morris' Pasch, winner of the Two Thousand Guineas, today remained the favorite for the Derby in a call-over of odds at the Victoria Club. The colt was backed at 5 to 2 for the Epsom classic, to be run June 1.

James V. Rank's Scottish Union, second in last week's Two Thousand Guineas, was second choice at 100 to 12, followed by Sir Humphrey de Trafford's Portmarnock, 9 to 1, the Aga Khan's Khan Bahadur, 100 to 7, and Viscount Astor's Pound Foolish, and Sir Abe Bailey's Golden Sovereign, each 100 to 6.

The Chief Derby Hope

Stagehand Mate Sande Surprise

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 2 (AP)—Ever since Earl Sande blew in from the west with Stagehand, the Kentucky Derby favorite, and the rest of Maxwell Howard's string, there's been a rumor going the rounds at Churchill Downs that the Earl wasn't expecting to win next Saturday's renewal of the Derby with Stagehand at all.

"No, sir," winked the wise boys. "Watch The Chief. That's the horse Sande's really depending on."

Sande said there was nothing to it but talk. Sometimes he was a bit impatient when asked about it.

"We don't know what The Chief can do," he said.

But the story persisted that one of Sande's stablehands had got a $200 advance on his salary and plunked it down on The Chief in the winter books, where the Chief's odds are much more attractive than those on Stagehand.
